

Miller & Rhoads

Tailored Suits

That are the Exact Counterparts
of Paris Models

But even the Paris designers who sent the originals of the Women's Suits herein mentioned would have good cause to be gratified—and maybe a bit envious! They surely would be astonished at the Miller & Rhoads prices for such close counterparts of the Paris prototypes, in fabrics and styles—and, then, the American tailoring is even better!

The picture suggests one of the styles.

CLAIMS NEIGHBOR IS "PEEPING TOM"

A. K. Patterson Has J. H. McCully Arrested by Police for Trespassing on His Roof.

Several times recently the family of A. K. Patterson, of Tenth and Semmes Streets, South Richmond, has heard peculiar noises. The head of the house put it down to womanly nervousness, but was at last convinced that a late prowler was up to some mischief. Last night, after instituting a strict watch, Mr. Patterson found him. Kneeling on the roof of his rear porch was a man, who, it is asserted, was peeping into a room in which three young girls were preparing to retire for the night. Charged with being the "Peeping Tom," J. H. McCully, thirty-three years old, a painter by occupation, and the next-door neighbor of Patterson, was arrested in his home by Patrolmen Breen, Wescott and Tinsley, of the Third District, on a warrant issued on complaint of Patterson. He was taken to the Third Station and is being held without bail for a hearing before Justice H. A. Maurice, in Police Court, Part II, this morning.

McCully offered no resistance. He vehemently denied the accusations, and stated that he had not been on the roof. Patterson told the police he is positive of his identification and is prepared to prosecute the case to the full extent of the law. He claims to have been annoyed on several different nights by similar occurrences. The arrest created considerable excitement in the neighborhood, which had been on edge by the previous reports.

The warrant was sworn out by Patterson. The specific charge is that McCully created a nuisance by trespassing on the roof of the complainant's house. The men live in what is commonly termed a double tenement. The roof extended over the back porch, and can be reached from the windows of either side.

ENGINEER HELD FOR KILLING BOY

Bailed After Formal Charge of Murder Is Lodged for Accident in Yards.

Coroner Taylor will conduct an inquest this morning at 10 o'clock into the death of John T. Burch, eighteen years old, of 10 Maiden Lane, whose body was cut in two on the tracks of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway at Sixth and Canal Streets early yesterday morning. John A. Turner, of 2701 East Broad Street, engineer of a yard engine that ran over Burch, was arrested by Sergeant Marrin and Police-men Reid and Walker upon the formal charge of murder. Turner said he had no knowledge that he ran over the boy, but admitted that it may have possibly happened. About two months ago his engine killed a negro.

As far as could be learned, no one saw the accident. The body was found by some belated wayfarers, who notified Sergeant Marrin. It was some time before Burch was identified. Several persons, including Bicycle Policeman Leiss, said they had seen him several hours earlier, and it was thought that he may have fallen asleep on the tracks. As the body lay near a switch, the theory was also advanced that he may have stumbled, and the flag and fallen before the engine, which was shifting cars. How long he had been dead could not be ascertained. Coroner Taylor ordered the removal of the body to the undertaking establishment, and viewed it later.

With the permission of Judge D. C. Richardson, of the Hustings Court, Turner was bailed by Magistrate Purdie for his appearance this morning in Police Court. His hearing will, no doubt, be continued until the result of the coroner's inquest is made known.

Burch, who was an ironworker, was the son of Mrs. Mary Burch and the late Sam Burch.

COLD WEATHER TO FIND DOCK READY

Necessary Repairs Are Being Made on City Property Before Winter Sets In.

Two waste gates at the Seventeenth Street entrance to the City Dock will be replaced early this week. A contract for the work has been awarded to J. T. Nuckols & Company, and it will be pushed rapidly to completion in order not to delay shipping. A coffer dam has been constructed to hold back the water from the canal during the progress of the work, and the new gates have been built and are ready to be dropped into place.

At the other end of the Dock the big bulkhead, at which incoming and outgoing craft will tie up, is being locked into the Dock, or awaiting the arrival of a tug to carry them down the river, is about completed. It was tended by the contractor to get through the latter part of last week, but the heavy rains delayed him. The dredge Fulton is ready to begin pumping mud from the old Trigg slip into the bulkhead.

Harbormaster John R. Hopkins now expects to have the Dock in a fairly good condition and ready to stand the ravages of winter and the consequent high water mark, and the repairs are completed he is having great difficulty in keeping the water at the proper level. This is particularly true on Saturday night and Sunday, while the big mills using the canal for waterpower are shut down.

There is a leak in the inner gates of the locks that is causing some trouble. The hole is eighteen feet below the low-water mark, and the repairs must be made by a diver. The diving outfit owned by the city was damaged several weeks ago when an amateur was putting it on, preparatory to undertaking the work. It was shipped to New York to be repaired, and will probably be returned before the end of the week, when another attempt to work under water will be made by the volunteer.

HUNTING HOME FOR MEMORIAL NURSES

Hospital Must Provide for Sixty-Five of Them if City Takes Over Virginia.

Before the Virginia and Old Dominion Hospitals are taken over by the city, the Memorial Hospital must make some provision for sixty-five Memorial nurses, and the question of finding a home suitable to their needs and comfort presents many difficult phases. At present, the Virginia Hospital is being used as a nurses' home. In the event that the city accepts the offer of the Medical College of Virginia to take over the two institutions, Memorial nurses will have to move out, and while the management has been looking around for quarters in the neighborhood, it has not been able to find a proper building. There are not many available buildings near by. Most of them are too old or too small. There is no room in the Memorial for sixty-five young women, who must live within easy reach of the hospital, and they cannot be turned out of the Virginia until accommodations have been provided elsewhere.

The use of a Broad Street structure for a home is out of the question, and there are no buildings north of Broad which might answer all purposes. The problem, therefore, is a serious one, and while it must be solved if the city accepts the Virginia, it is expected to do, the Memorial managers are still in the dark. In fact, they do not know what they will do.

WILD DASH DOWN HILL

Brand and Main Car Stuck to Rails and Nobody Was Hurt.

Persons who saw an "owl" car on the Broad and Main Street line, which had started upon its last run yesterday morning at 6:30 o'clock, dashed at terrific speed down the steep Broad Street hill, were sure that when it reached the curve at Eighteenth Street it would turn over. But it clung to the rails, rounded the curve and came to a standstill after rolling about fifty feet further. Most of the passengers were policemen, en route to their stations to report for the 7 o'clock roll call. Nobody was hurt.

The car began its wild run at Twenty-second Street when the brakes refused to work. It rapidly gained momentum as it sped down the hill and, at Nineteenth Street, like a shot. That it did not turn over or even leave the tracks as it struck the switch was regarded as remarkable.

Investigation showed that the brakes were out of order, and it was necessary to tow the car to the barns for repairs.

Arrested on Forgery Charge.

Thomas Williams was arrested by County Officer A. J. Traylor of Chesterton, yesterday afternoon on a charge of forgery. He is accused of forging a check for $50 on the account of M. B. Carter, section master on the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad, and with raising an order of $8 on A. P. Chisholm, a Swansboro grocer, to $20.

Get Alleged Bootlegger.

Floyd Sawyer, colored, was arrested yesterday morning by Officers John Lee and W. E. Waymack, of the Third District, at Seventh and Perry Streets. He is charged with selling liquor unlawfully. Three pints of whiskey were found on his person.

Arrested for Carrying Gun.

Harry Jones, colored, was arrested yesterday by Patrolman Vinson on the charge of carrying a concealed weapon, a revolver.

FAMOUS LECTURER AT UNION SEMINARY

Sir William Ramsay to Tell of Research in Biblical Lands This Week.

Sir William Mitchell Ramsay, professor of humanity in Aberdeen University, regarded by many as the greatest living authority on archaeological research in biblical lands, will begin to-morrow night a series of seven lectures in the chapel of Union Theological Seminary, Ginter Park, on the topic, "The Bearing of Recent Discoveries on the Trustworthiness of the New Testament." The lectures will be open to the public, the distinguished speaker having accepted the invitation to appear here on what is known as the James Sprunt Foundation, an endowment at Union Seminary for the purpose of bringing eminent lecturers to address the students and friends of the institution. Immediately after their delivery, the seven lectures comprising the series will be published in book form.

Dr. W. W. Moore, president of Union Seminary, said last night that these lectures would not only prove of great interest, but as their author is an authority of world-wide reputation, their publication is eagerly awaited by students. For some years past, Dr. Moore said, Sir William had been released from active duties in connection with his professorship, in order to engage in scientific research work. Besides being knighted by King Edward for his distinguished work, Sir William has received the honorary degrees of D. L. from Oxford, LL. D. from St. Andrews and Glasgow, Litt. D. from Cambridge, and D. D. from Edinburgh University. From 1880 to 1891 he traveled widely in Asiatic Turkey under the auspices of Oxford University, and among the many honors he has received are the gold medal of Pope Leo XIII. and membership in many archaeological societies. He was the Levering lecturer in Johns Hopkins University in 1894, and was awarded the Drexel gold medal by the University of Pennsylvania in 1905 for archaeological research, and the Victoria gold medal of the Royal Geographical Society in 1906. He has published a large number of standard works as a result of his studies in Asia Minor, and contributed articles to German, Austrian, French, American and English literary, archaeological and geographical journals.

The lectures will begin promptly at 8 o'clock, to-morrow night, and will close on November 4.

Alleged "Blind-Tiger."

William McLean, colored, was arrested yesterday morning by Mounted Policemen McQueen and Bicycle Policeman Traylor, on the charge of selling liquor without a license. When his premises were searched a quantity of beer and whiskey was found and will be used as evidence against him when the case is called this morning in Police Court.
